We Mourn the Loss of Profits.

GREAT FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

SALE OF CLOTHING

We are going to make some improvements in our store room after January 1st. The contract is signed and sealed with the contractors—consequently we are compelled to sell our stock or pack it away. We prefer selling it at a sacrifice.

NOTHING RESERVED.

Every suit of Clothes, every Overcoat, every Pair of Pants marked in plain figures. We will just split them in half. This means 50 cents on the dollar. The cheapest sale of fine ready made Clothing in Kentucky.

Our business is not conducted by fakes and guessing schemes. The man that's selling watch chains on the street corner for $1, throwing in a watch just to show his generosity, needs watching. "Bunco Steersers," "Razzle Dazzle" tricksters and green goods sharps always promise great returns from small investments. Intelligent minds are on the racket, and take no stock in such humbuggery. 'Tis value they want.

100 CENTS WORTH OF GOODS

FOR 100 CENTS IN CASH

Is what we give the people. But at this sale

100 CENTS WORTH AT 50 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR!

Every article in our establishment is ticketed at the lowest price possible. The stamp of durability is on every garment.

If you have not dealt with us, ask your neighbor, who has. We invite you to our store, feeling assured that you will be pleased with our garments and satisfied with the matchless values we offer.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

Some of the Bills that Were Introduced Last Week.

In the House Mr. Pettit introduced a joint resolution requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their best endeavors to have an amendment made to the Constitution of the United States so that Senators may be elected by popular vote instead of by the Legislature.

The General Statutes Committee reported adversely the bill reducing the legal rate of interest from 6 per cent. to 5. It was made a special order, so that its author, Mr. Bashaw, may have an opportunity to be heard.

Mr. Dawson, from the Committee on Federal Relations, reported favorably a resolution endorsing the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Charlton got in another joint resolution just before the session closed, declaring, after many "whereases," that it is the sense of the General Assembly that the present Legislature is not included in the clause in the new Constitution which prohibits the giving or receiving of free passes by any State, county or city officer.

In the absence of Speaker Moore, the chair was filled by Mr. Hanks, of Anderson county, in a creditable manner.

In the Senate the following bills were introduced:

By Mr. Parker—Bill to fix maximum rates for railroads, and making passenger rates two cents per mile for roads that have been in operation five years or more.

By Mr. Jones—Act to prevent fraud in elections, and fixing penalties.

By Mr. McCain—Act regulating tobacco warehouses and sales.

HOUSE BILLS.

In the House the following new bills were introduced:

By Mr. Myers—Declaring that the machinery, pumping house, reservoir, pipes and conduits, all water works property owned, controlled, operated and used exclusively and in its entirety by cities of the second class for supplying such cities and the public thereof with water, are hereby declared to be public property, used for public purposes, and shall be exempt from all taxation.

By Mr. Causler—To amend the Common School law, changing the time of election of trustees from July to June.

By Mr. Pettit—Requiring railroad corporations and other persons operating and controlling railroads to fence their rights of way, and construct barriers and cattle guards at certain crossings, and prescribing penalties for failing to do so.

By Mr. Spalding—An act to protect the fish in the waters of this State.

By Mr. Hensley—Act to create a Board of Commissioners for the purpose of securing for use in the common schools of the State a series of text-books, defining the duties of certain officers therein named, with reference thereto; making appropriations therefor; defining certain felonies and misdemeanors; repealing all laws in conflict therewith.

By Mr. Dawson—Act repealing all the "local option" acts applying to Simpson county.

By Mr. Harlow—Resolution directing the Committee on Revenue and Taxation to bring in a bill requiring property to be assessed as of January 15.

By Mr. Mathers—To create a Board of Fence Reviewers for each county in the State.

By J. R. Thomas—To amend the revenue laws by adding to section 4, article 6, chapter 92, by inserting the words "except merchandise, which shall be assessed as of the 15th day of November each year."

By Mr. Seavers—Act empowering Breckinridge county to issue bonds to the amount of $38,000 to pay its present indebtedness.

Wants $10,000 for a Broken Leg.

Martin Gilligan has filed suit in the Common Pleas Court against the city of Winchester, asking that damages be awarded to him against the city for the small sum of $10,000. Mr. Gilligan says that while walking up Main street in the night time during the year 1891, he fell on a heap of tiles, sheet iron and rubbish near Jones & Gay's warehouse, and that thereby his leg was broken, his spine injured, his nerves shattered, and the rest of his body considerably bruised; that he was compelled to expend large sums of money in doctor's bills and for medical attention. He alleges that the city was notified of the obstruction on the sidewalk, and that it failed to remove the obstacles over which he fell. Maj. I. N. Cardwell and Capt. Leeland Hathaway represent Mr. Gilligan in the suit.—Winchester Sun.

The Wages of Sin.

It would seem that no joy or gladness could excel that which springs from a consciousness of fully knowing that your day's fading with nightfall sees nothing but the good of life go down on the big book to your credit. On the other hand, there is no remorse so bitter or that stings with such severity as the consciousness of wrong doing. It is ever uppermost and can only be downed with the lapse of time. There is no harvest so abundant as that reaped from the sowing of sin.—Clay City Chronicle.

FOUR INCHES TALLER

Than He Was in Life.—Colonel Nelson, the Giant, Dead.

A special from Baltimore to the Cincinnati Enquirer says: Col. Pickett Nelson, who claimed to be the "tallest man on earth" died here to-day. He had been ill for three weeks with typhoid fever. His body measures eight feet five inches in length. In life he claimed to be eight feet one inch tall and to weigh 387 pounds. After death his frame relaxed and became four inches longer than it had been.

Nelson was a colored man, and was born in 1861 in Essex county, Virginia. Both his parents were rather smaller than the average, and the boy did not begin to develop unusual height until he was 12 years old. At that age his cousin, James D. Richardson, who is known as "the human lamp," could whip him with ease. Four years later Nelson could do Richardson up with one hand. The boy grew by jumps, and when 23 years of age was as tall as at the time of his death. He was broad, too, and with his arms outstretched he is said to have measured 9 feet from the tips of his fingers on his right hand to those of the left.

Lobbyists Working the Legislature.

It looks very much as if the lobby is about to take a hand in the statute revision business at Frankfort. Personal, political, judicial, local and other interests are represented in force at the capital, prepared to bring every possible influence to bear on the Legislature when it undertakes the task of redistricting the State into judicial districts. There will be much music from the report of the Revisory Commission is taken up, for there will be war between these varied interests, neither of which should be given any weight in the consideration of the question. There appears to be a sort of prejudice among the Legislators against the work of the Revisory Commission, and it is showing itself in their reception of the redistricting report. Now, the Commission was not subjected to the same untoward influences that surround the Legislature, and the latter will have to do its work in a more independent and impartial manner than now seems likely, if the people do not accord more confidence to the plan of the Commission than to that of the solons of the Assembly.—Covington Commonwealth.

Winter Weather at Winchester.

Last week was winter weather with a vengeance. Everything was covered with a coating of sleet, which was heavier than is often seen here, though by no means equal to that of a year ago. The young folks of the city enjoyed it hugely and sleigh bells tinkled merrily. Maple street, between Boone and Fairfax, was given over to the coasters whose merry shouts were heard until far into the night. Pedestrianism was accompanied with many difficulties and numerous falls resulted. But few of these were attended with serious consequences with the exception of Dick Bush, who fell and broke one bone of his leg and badly wrenched his ankle. He is getting along nicely and will recover before a great while. In Paris Charlton Alexander, Cashier of the Northern bank, fell and broke his arm, and other casualties of similar character are recorded elsewhere.—Winchester Democrat.

Not to Go to Lexington, Either.

The Frankfort correspondent of the Lexington Press writes to that paper as follows:

"Representatives and Senators generally admit that no better site than Lexington can be found in the State, and I can state authoritatively that the gentlemen from Fayette will spare neither time nor trouble in their efforts to secure the Capital for Lexington. There is not the slightest chance that the Capital will be removed to Louisville, and the contest will quickly narrow down to Lexington and Frankfort."

And it may be added "that there is not the slightest chance" that it will be removed to Lexington. Mr. Mulligan has not only lost his wonderful map, but that remarkable subscription list as well.—Frankfort Capital.

Indicted for Eggng a Preacher.

The grand jury of Bourbon county has indicted Ernest Butler, Will McIlvaine and Young Campbell for throwing eggs at Rev. John R. Reeves, Presiding Elder of the Maysville district, while going from the Methodist church at Millersburg one evening in December last. Campbell is a grandson of the late Governor Metcalfe. The action of the grand jury of Bourbon county shows that the good people of the county do not encourage the outrageous conduct of a few ruffians at Millersburg against those who favored the removal of the Kentucky Wesleyan College to Winchester. We feel assured that hereafter the advocates of Winchester in the removal controversy can go to Millersburg without fear of being foully dealt with.—Winchester Sun.

Mrs. Emma Lumpkins, the well known dress maker at Hazel, Ky., now has a nice line of ladies hats, and is prepared to do any kind of work in that line.

As a remedy for coughs and colds, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has never been equaled. Its name is a household word.

A BRAVE MAN'S DEATH.

The Last Words Uttered by Sheriff Dunn of Stevens County, Kansas.

In the annals of heroism, from Thermopylae to this good hour, nothing has revealed the finer virtue of chivalry more beautifully than the dying words of Sheriff Dunn, of Stevens county, Kansas. A bullet having penetrated a vital part, he confronted his thirty murderers, emptied his revolver, and, conscious of having done the full measure of his duty, turned to his subordinates, and remarked: "Joe, they have hit me, and I will be dead in half a minute. You must get out of here. Tell the Judge 'tis sweet to die for one's friends." What could have more emphasized the supreme courage of the man! It is of such stuff heroes are made, indeed. No story of knight errantry contains a brighter passage than this. Sheriff Dunn was the Chevalier Bayard of the plains. He met death with a smile. The sense of duty done was sufficient solace. With his heart's blood running out he remembered his friend and chief, and his breath was the message of a brave gentleman, mindful that he must not permit his friend to think that he found any regret in his service. "No greater love hath a man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend."—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

The Big Sandy to be Dammed.

The report of the Board of Engineers appointed last summer by the Secretary of War to consider and report upon the subject of substituting a movable dam in the Big Sandy, near Louisa, Ky., in lieu of a dam of a fixed type at that site, which has already been authorized and was under construction at the time of the appointment of the Board, has been received by the Secretary of War, and by him transmitted to Congress. In their report the Board of Engineers recommended a movable dam as best suited for the Louisa site. The Secretary of War says that if the recommendation of the Board is favorably considered by Congress a further appropriation of $75,000 will be necessary to construct such a type of a dam, which is known as a Needle dam.—Cattlettsburg Democrat.

The Seat of Government.

Mr. Gardner, of Louisville, has introduced a bill in the Legislature providing for the removal of the seat of government from Frankfort. The reason assigned is that the Capital is now located at an unfortunate and inconvenient point, and that there is no eligible building site at or near the present seat of government, and in view of the many advantages of having the Capital at the metropolis of the State, it should be removed to Louisville. It seems hard to lay the ghost of Capital removal, for it stalks abroad and gives the Frankfort people much uneasiness every few years. We favor keeping the seat of government at Frankfort, and believe that a large majority of the people all over the State would prefer that it remain where it is.—Hopkinsville New Era.

A Simple Cure for Grippe.

In view of the prevalence of the grip, the following remedy by a well-known physician may be interesting. He says: "I would like to suggest a treatment for grippe, which I know is nearly specific as well as innocent. It is simply assafetida, given in four grain pills, one pill four times a day. No man need be sick of grippe these days who will take it. For the past two years I have not had one man to go to bed from grippe. I break it up very quickly, and, in fact, cure it. If this treatment was generally known it would save sufferers much expense and wretchedness, and many useful and valuable lives."

Another Bob-Tail Railroad.

A short railroad will be begun shortly to run from Beattyville to Lumber Point on the line of the K. U. railroad. It will be nearly four miles long, will be entirely independent in all respects from the K. U. or any other road, with its own stockholders, officers, rolling stock and management. This will give a splendid outlet for the coal mines long known in this city as Kentucky River mines, from whence in the days of river navigation we got our best coal. It is hoped that this important link in our Eastern railroad connections will be ready for business before winter comes again.—Lexington Transcript.

Riches for Kentuckians.

A special from Danville, Ky., says: A letter has been received here by the County Clerk, from V. B. Gilmer, Court Commissioner, Lebanon, Va., making inquiry for the heirs of George Hall, son of Ambrose and Peggy Hall, who left Tazewell county, Va., several years ago. They have an interest there in an estate valued at $60,000. George Hall had two sons, one named Robert and another Jackson, and they are now supposed to be located somewhere in the State.
